WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY GUIDE

WELL HELLO THERE!

My name is Amy, I am a silly, caring and vertically challenged photographer, and I am thrilled you are interested in having me be part of your big day! I hope you enjoy the images that are my labour of love.

Before we meet face to face, you might be wondering if we will get along - I would too! After all, you are looking for someone with whom you will spend your entire wedding day with. You should know that I have a fire cracker sense of humour, I love meeting new people, my daughter, Bridget, and her Dad are the loves of my life (along with our beautiful but ridiculous Golden Retriever) and I tend to fly by the seat of my pants!

I love to be actively involved in the planning of weddings I will be capturing. I have seen lots of weddings and love to share all I that I know to make sure each wedding I am a part of is amazing

I look forward to meeting you soon!

XOXO,

Amy Donovan

FINAL WEDDING CONSULTATION

We will no doubt be in touch throughout the planning process but at this point, make sure we can squeeze in a few minutes for coffee. I will need you to give me a list of locations you have settled on, the address and time for the ceremony and reception, as well as a list of family formals you would like to have so no one feels forgotten in the excitement of the day

It is important that anyone who you have listed to be in formals is aware of the time and location to meet. As soon as the receiving line has ended, and as near to the church as possible is the best place to do these to avoid confusion.

Prior to your wedding, we will create a timeline to make your day run smoothly!

It really helps the flow of the day if I photograph your family portraits first. That way, your parents and grandparents can go relax while I capture you guys having fun with the bridal party. When that's done, they can rest their feet in the limo while I get those incredibly special photos of the two of you together!

Location wise, there are so many great places. Whether you decide to stick with the traditional locations around town or put your own unique spin on things, I will make sure you get beautiful and timeless portraits.

When discussing locations, think about fun things like where you met and how, where you had your first date and your favorite place to spend time together. It doesn't hurt if those places have stunning panoramic views, but if the location is meaningful, the backdrop will be special to you.

GOOD TO KNOW

How far in advance should we book?

It is important you book your photographer as soon as you have chosen them. I typically book about 12-18 months in advance, so if your date is available I suggest booking it as soon as you have chosen me as your photographer. I hold a date for 48 hour following an inquiry to allow time for decision making. From there we arrange a contract signing and payment of the retainer.

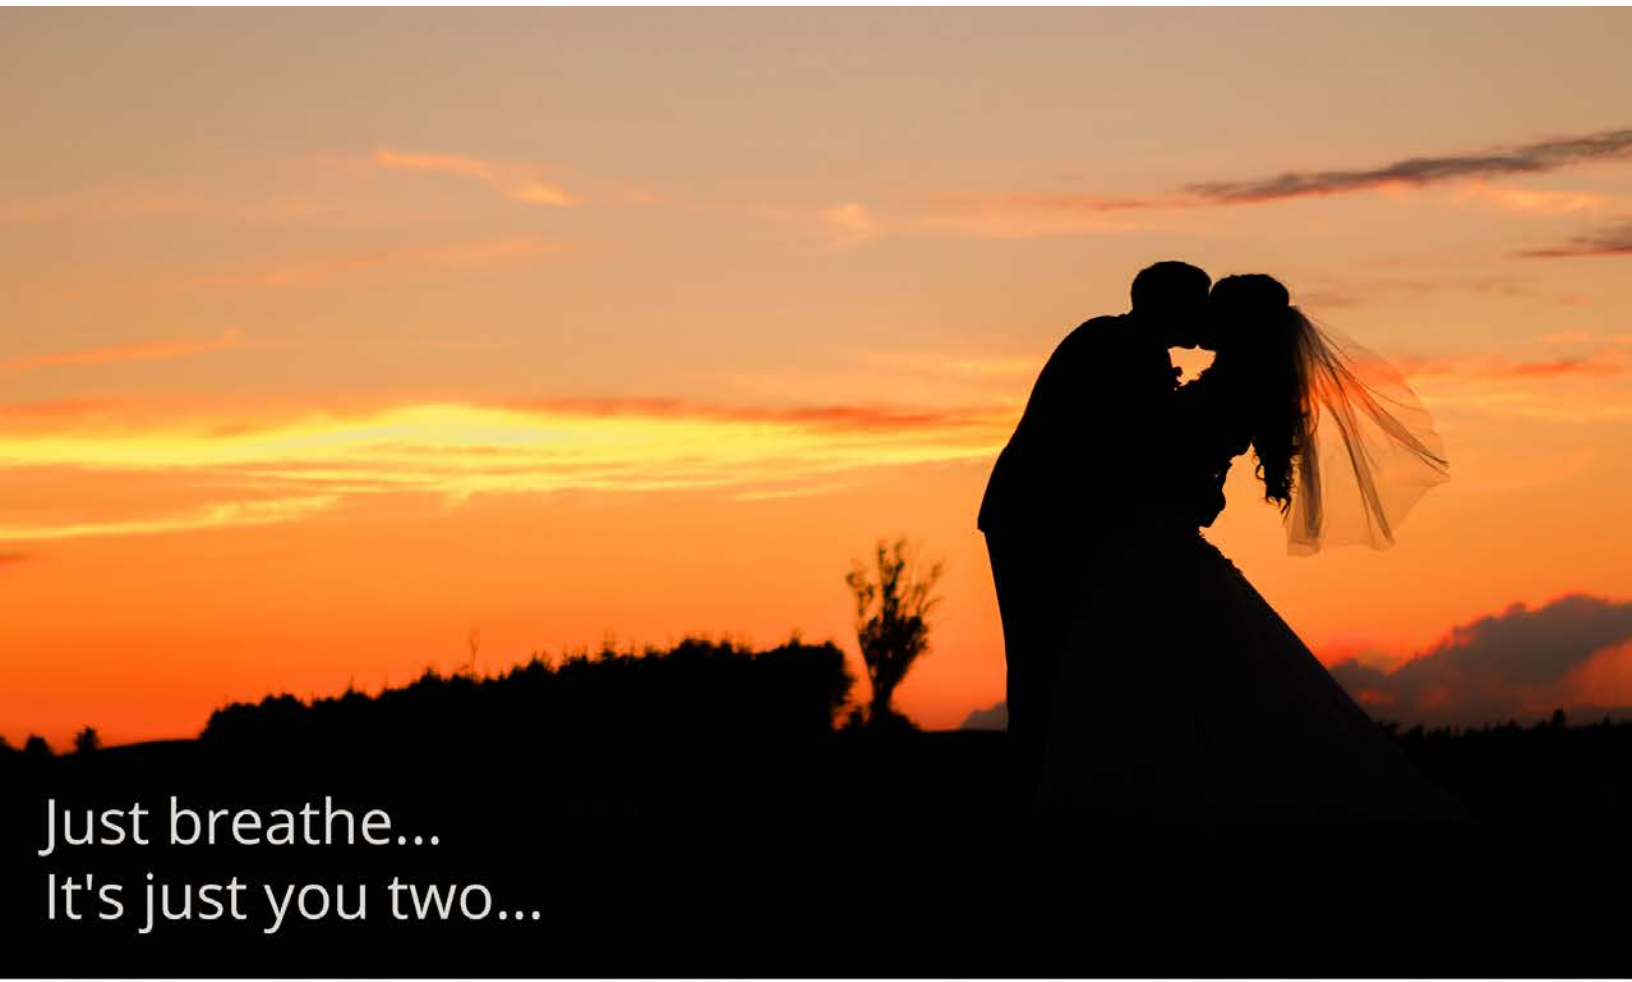

When are payments due?

To make paying for your wedding photography easier, your total payment will be divided into three payments. The first payment is a non-refundable retainer payable when the contract is signed to hold the date. The second payment is due half way between contract signing and the wedding, and the final payment is due a month prior to the wedding. If travel charges are applicable, those will be due the same day as the final payment. All prices are subject to tax.

When will I get to see my wedding photos?

Depending on what time of year your wedding is, the timeline could vary. You should see some previews within a week of your wedding with your final images delivered within 8-16 weeks.

Just breathe... It's just you two...

These are the things that you forget after you say the magical "YES!" of your engagement.

The excitement, anticipation, and the planning...oh the planning!
Wedding locations, wedding vendors, meal choice, wedding gowns...and of course the smaller details of flowers arrangements, music styles and cake. These are the choices you can see, hear, smell or taste before your wedding day. If it's not how you imagined, you can change your mind.

But what about your photos? Photography does not lend itself to such sampling. You put your trust in the person behind the lense; you don't see the big picture, but the person behind the camera is forever capturing memories in a light you never imagined.

"Just breathe"..."
"It's just you two"..."

These are things that I was reminded of on my wedding day. These reminders didn't come from a beloved family member or bridesmaid. They came from someone I never expected. They came from my photographer.

Choosing Amy Donovan as our wedding photographer was the best choice for our wedding.

Our photos represent us as who we are, and capture memories of our friends and family that we didn't get to see on our busy, but beautiful, wedding day.

You don't take a photo, you make it. We loved our wedding day - and we have our beautiful moments captured by Amy. We made the best choice possible for us, for our friends and family when we chose Amy as our photographer. Her style, sense of humor, kindness and warmth allowed us to have the relaxing wedding environment we wanted.

We were able to "Just breathe...", and remember that "It's just you two..."

Thank you Amy. You have captured us in the rawest state of emotion - pure love.
